Creed

This is a time to cooperate with life. I am agreeable, patient, tolerant, and diplomatic. I am open and receptive. I observe, I listen, I think. Others are at ease around me. I create harmony everywhere. I am relaxed, gentle, and pleasant.

I find the power within myself to make positive changes. Through it all I know that I am safe.

I am centered and relaxed, knowing every moment is an opportunity to give and to receive goodness. I see myself in a new light today.

My consciousness is the key to the flow of money in my life. What I give out in thought comes back to me in experience. As I conceive of myself having more money, more money comes to me.

I am happy to see other people expressing prosperity. It is a mirror of my own rich abundance. There is plenty for all of us.
